COLLABORATION & TECHNOLOGY BRINGS TOGETHER TWO AGILE AUSTRALIAN COMPANIES

Oil & Gas Solutions (OGS) and Australian Fire Industries (AFI) are pleased to announce they have entered into a global strategic partnership, combining OGS's industry leading Independent commissioning and operational readiness specialist capabilities with AFI, an innovative provider of fire protection and industry safety solutions.

AFI offer clients fire protection design, installation, inspection, maintenance, and optimisation services, with expertise and knowledge including fire detection/protection systems engineering, commissioning, and training.

With technology playing an increasingly critical role in every aspect of business, companies recognize the need to accelerate the development of digital solutions to ensure they remain on the competitive vanguard. The OGS-AFI partnership brings together deep skills in business and technology strategy, product ideation, technology and deployment.

OGS Global Group Chief Executive Officer, Jason Antunovich, said, "The complimentary nature of this partnership provides our clients with a broader and safer service offering."

AFI Managing Director, Ray Johnson, stated "I am excited by what this global partnership provides and working with Jason and his team to deliver our clients with additional service offerings, and our people with greater learning opportunities, and delivering on our promise of bringing innovation and predictive maintenance technology to the fire industry"
